OLLI Veterans' Day Event a HUGE Success!

By John Nash, OLLI E-News editor

Wow! What a terrific event was presented to honor our veterans on Veterans' Day. More than 60 OLLI members and guests met in TA-1 on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 11, to enjoy an event that culminated in showing the documentary film, Honor Flight: One Last Mission.

For several months, Martha Powers, OLLI board member, has been organizing the event. Martha, whose parents were Marine Corps officers in WWII, said, "Hey! It's Veterans Day! OLLI ought to do something to honor our veterans" and in true "Martha-form" began working on the event.

The program began with the Presentation of the Colors by the Fairfax County

Fairfax County Police Honor Guard presents the colors.

Police Ceremonial Honor Guard, with the national anthem sung by PFC Kirk Coligan. Then OLLI member Michael McNamara, Colonel, Infantry, US Army (retired), read a poem he had written "in recognition of the veterans in our presence." (The complete poem, "In Arlington," can be read in the Poetry Corner of this issue.) After his reading, Mike recognized OLLI members who served in each branch of the military services -- including two veterans of World War II.

"I was so delighted that my Reader's Theater acting buddy, 95-year-old Army veteran Chester Myslicki, was there. And I was happily surprised to find Navy veteran Adrian Pelzner in our audience," said Martha, who asked each WWII vet to speak briefly.

The main event was a screening of the documentary film, "Honor Flight: One Last Mission," about a group of citizens in Wisconsin who raised funds to send the town's WWII veterans to Washington, DC, to see the World War II Memorial created in their honor. The Honor Flight concept continues today, bringing veterans from across the country to our area to see the memorials that recognize and honor their service.

At the conclusion of the film, three OLLI members who are Honor Flight volunteers at Dulles – Toni and John Acton, and John Nash – explained the Honor Flight program and how they participate in welcoming veterans from all over the country.

“This is such a special program,” said Toni who, along with her husband John, has volunteered for several years with the Chicago Honor Flight coming into Dulles. She described the process and schedule that comes together each year to bring veterans through Dulles and Reagan airports and to the city. OLLI member and Honor Flight volunteer John Nash offered additional insights and stories about their experiences in welcoming Honor Flight veterans to our area.

OLLI invitations resulted in media coverage for the event. The Herndon public access channel interviewed several OLLI members and recorded the event. Bonnie Hobbs, a feature writer for the Connection newspapers, covered the entire event, including interviews with Army veterans Jim Dunphy and Bob Coffin about their military experiences. Bonnie’s reporting on the event resulted in an outstanding article as well as the front page photograph in the Nov 19-25 Fairfax Connection. You can read the article and see the pictures by going to

Even as the day’s special events concluded, future plans were taking shape. “Would you like to come on an OLLI bus trip that greets Honor Flight veterans and then follows them to the World War II memorial?” Martha asked the audience. Many agreed that this would be a very special OLLI event that should become a reality.

As for Veterans Day at OLLI next year? “We’ll again do something special,” Martha said. “I promise.”

Mason’s Mercatus Center Announces Exciting Events for 2016

By Alice Slayton Clark, Communications Associate/Registrar

The Mercatus Center at George Mason University has lined up two exciting new interviews for 2016 as part of its acclaimed “Conversations with Tyler” lecture series. NBA All-Star, author and activist Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and founder and editor-in-chief of the award winning website, FiveThirtyEight, Nate Silver will kick off the new year with discussions on social activism and data journalism/ elections methodologies, respectively. Detailed information about these events and how to register can be found on the Mercatus Center website: <http://mercatus.org/conversations-with-tyler>.

“Conversations with Tyler,” hosted by the Center’s Dr. Tyler Cowen, is a series of interviews with leading economists, entrepreneurs, authors, and innovators who offer insights and ideas to help solve some of the most difficult problems the world faces today. The series was launched in early 2015 with interviews with the cofounder of PayPal and Palantir Technologies Peter Thiel; Columbia University Professor of Health Policy and Management Jeffrey Sachs; Harvard economist Dani Rodrik; and University of Chicago Business School economist Luigi Zingales. ## Mason Marquee Ad Promotes OLLI

By John Nash, E-News Editor

When driving down Braddock Road near George Mason University, glance up at the Mason marquee and see if you can catch the new OLLI advertisement. (See the top of the E-News for the ad.)

The OLLI ads run right before registration, according to Beth Davis, OLLI program associate who manages the ads. “We are very fortunate that Mason gives us the free display space,” Beth said. The ad usually runs for two or three weeks during registration for each OLLI term. The winter term’s ad can be seen on a rotating basis from Nov 27 to Dec 10. Registration for the winter term is Dec 1-10.

Developing the OLLI advertisements for the marquee is somewhat challenging. Each small light on the marquee represents only one pixel in a digital photograph so the amount of detail that can be successfully displayed is limited. Before each term, Beth works with John Nash to develop several draft ads that are circulated for review among staff and selected members. “We try to keep the ads simple and readable while conveying an important message about OLLI,” Beth said. “We also try to feature OLLI members in the ads to show the personality of the organization.” In addition to reminding viewers of the winter term registration, the ad celebrates OLLI’s 25 years in operation.

As you travel down Braddock Road, look for the OLLI ad on the Mason marquee. And tell your friends to watch for it, too. It can be a great recruiting tool for new members as well as a reminder for OLLI members to register for the winter term classes!

Welcome Shannon Morrow - the Newest Member of the OLLI Staff!

By Alice Slayton Clark, Communications Associate/Registrar

Shannon Morrow has joined the OLLI staff as a part-time site assistant, serving all three campuses as a “jack of all trades.” She brings to OLLI many administrative and technological talents, as well as an extensive background in international education.

Born and raised in Vancouver, Canada, Shannon has lived and worked overseas most of her adult years. Her first job was in Seoul, South Korea, where she taught elementary students at the Seoul International School and where she was able to explore her family roots, history, and culture. Several years later, she found herself teaching in Moscow where, fate would have it, she met her future husband Michael, a junior officer at the U.S. Embassy.

Married in 1993, the newlyweds began the wayfaring life of diplomats, moving from Washington to Warsaw, Botswana to Thailand. Along the way, Shannon acquired a Master’s Degree in international teaching and a couple of wonderful sons.

Shannon moved back to Fairfax in 2010, and has resumed a “normal lifestyle” until the next posting calls. In the meantime, she enjoys watching hockey (part of her Canadian DNA); reading historical fiction, crimes and mysteries; and cooking when she has “time to really do it right!” But her “true loves,” as she says, are her boys: husband Michael; sons Sean, a freshman at the University of Arizona, and Brett, a freshman at Woodson high school; and her yellow Labrador, Buddy.

Welcome, Shannon, to the OLLI family!

Craft and Conversation Group Tackles UFOs

By Nancy Scarborough, E-News Staff Writer

Did you know that on some Fridays there are UFOs in our own OLLI cottage? No, they are not flying objects, but “UnFinished Objects,” according to Craft and Conversation founder Doris Bloch. She enjoys getting “time to finish her UFOs and/or start new projects” as part of this group.

One morning recently, seven participants chatted as they ate brownies and created their latest craft projects. In the works were a needlepoint glass case (Caroline Finberg), knitted baby car seat blanket and cross stitched Christmas stocking with embroidery and charms (Pam Cooper-Smuzynski), holiday booties (Susan Osborn), a Noah’s Ark sampler (Alana Lukes), a counted cross stitch Iris (Sigrid Carlson), a knitted scarf (Doris Bloch) and a needlepoint pillow (Ute Hill). Pam was also wearing a kimono cardigan that she had knitted.

"I enjoy the company, seeing other's projects, and the encouragement I get to keep chugging along," wrote Sandy Galletta on a recent member survey.

Alana Lukes agreed: "I love the group for getting to know OLLI individuals better through the one-on-one contact. It is nice to know someone to sit with or at least say hi to, especially in the very large classes."

Doris, now coordinator of the group with Pam, started the group over three years ago as a place where people who "have something in common can help each other." The members can talk through a crafting "block" and also exchange resource help. "I like to think I get things finished faster," she said. The group welcomes newcomers. Information about meeting times and places can be found on the OLLI Ongoing Events calendar.

Adios, Amigos! (for the time being)

By Stephanie Trachenberg, E-News Staff Writer

The OLLI Intermediate Spanish Conversation 2 Class celebrated the end of fall term at Margarita Grill in Burke. Mexican food was encouraged though a couple of hamburgers showed up! The popular class is taught by the dynamic Senora Ligia Glass, seen in the photo wearing a white hat (what else?).

"Is This Thing On? Navigating the Digital World" by Abby Stokes.

The digital divide widens with the rapid pace of new innovations and gadgets. What is out there and how it might benefit you can be lost in all the tech talk. Should you buy a tablet or a computer? Stick with your PC or move onto an Apple? How do you maximize your searches and why on earth do people want to share on Facebook? Abby helps "digital immigrants" (those baby boomers and beyond not born with a keyboard and mouse in hand) understand what everyone is talking about and how to decide what might work best for them.

Abby Stokes has taken on the role of the Johnny Appleseed of Technology, crisscrossing the country to help digital immigrants conquer their fear of technology. Abby has single-handedly helped a quarter million digitally-challenged people cross the digital divide and get online. She's visited more than 20 states, 120 public libraries, over 100 senior centers/computer clubs and has hosted webinars across the country. Abby will be signing her book in the annex before the meeting and at the break. Available for sale - $18 - cash/check/credit card.

Learn 30: Mobile Apps For Organizing Information - presented by Stan Schretter

There are lots of mobile apps that claim to be great organizers of information. Do any really do it well? Stan Schretter will illustrate some of issues facing mobile users and why it still may be necessary to augment even the best mobile apps with the PC version to get the best results.

Stan Schretter is an OLLI member and has been avidly exploring technology since attaching ham radio antennas to his parents' house roof at age 13.

See full details on these meetings by clicking here. For information on the Computer Club, see the OPCUG website. OPCUG dues of $5 for 2016 will be collected at this meeting.

Can't make one of the meeting in person? Dues Paid club members may attend via Zoom's cloud meeting service, beginning at 12:45. Send a message to webinarhosts@patacs.org if you plan to attend in this way. Join from PC, Mac, iOS or Android: <https://zoom.us/j/641357751>

Poet's Corner

Courtesy of the Poetry Workshop

The following poem was written and read by Mike McNamara at the special OLLI Veterans' Day event on Wednesday, Nov 11.

In Arlington

Dulce et Decorum Est Pro Patria Mori—Horace

In Arlington, across the rolling green
 That somehow speaks of drums in old tattoo,
 The granite hosts in ordered march are seen
 In final and perpetual review.

No protests here, no placards on parade,
 Within the ranks and columns of these dead.
 No chanted slogans, only silent shade
 And quiet affirmations, left unsaid.

These hosts file past with honors old yet new.
 No marches play, but drums and drummers mute
 Keep cadence for this timeless, hushed review:
 And Honor, standing, takes their last salute.

Michael J. Mc Namara,
 Colonel, Infantry USA (Ret.)

We extend our sympathies during his time of sadness.

Kathryn Breen

OLLI member Kathryn Breen passed away the week of Nov 23. Many of us will remember her as the OLLI staff representative at the Loudoun campus from 2009-2014. A celebration of her life was held Nov 28 at the Trinity Presbyterian Church in Herndon. OLLI extends its condolences to her family.
