

Timeline: Major attacks in Russia since 1994

REUTERS, Jan 24, 2011, 09:40pm IST

Following is a timeline of some of the major attacks on Russian soil since the beginning of the first Chechen war in 1994 to the present day:

1994-1996 - Tens of thousands of people are killed in the first Chechen war.

June 1995 - Chechen rebels seize hundreds of hostages in a hospital in the southern Russian town of Budennovsk. More than 100 people are killed during the rebel assault and a botched Russian commando raid.

Jan. 1996 - Chechen fighters take hundreds hostage in a hospital at Kizlyar in Dagestan, then move them by bus to Pervomaiskoye on the Chechen border. After being pounded by Russian military, most rebels escape but hostages are killed.

June 1996 - A bomb kills four and injures at least 10 in the Moscow metro system, in what officials said was the work of Chechen separatists though no one claims responsibility.

Nov. 1996 - A bomb explodes in an apartment block where many Russian servicemen and their families live in the Dagestani city of Kaspiysk, killing 64.

March 19, 1999 - A bomb kills 50 in an outdoor market in Vladikavkaz, the capital of North Ossetia, one of two Christian-dominated regions in the troubled North Caucasus.

Aug. 31, 1999 - A bomb explodes in an underground shopping centre near the Kremlin in Moscow, injuring 20.

Aug./Sept. 1999 - Hundreds of Russian soldiers are killed battling Chechen militants in the mountains of Dagestan. The second Chechen war begins. Tens of thousands are killed in the war. Russia re-establishes direct rule in 2000.

Sept. 1999 - Bombs destroy apartment blocks in Moscow, Buynaksk and Volgodonsk. More than 200 people are killed. Moscow blames Chechens who in turn blame Russian secret services.

June 2-3, 2000 - Five suicide bomb attacks, carried out by Chechen rebels, on police stations and Russian army bases in Chechnya kill at least 54 people.

Aug. 8, 2000 - A bomb kills 13 and wounds 90 in a crowded Moscow underpass.

March 24, 2001 - Three car bombs explode in the southern Russian cities of Mineralnye Vody, Yessentuki and in the North Caucasus region of Karachay-Cherkessia, killing 28.
