

L426 Two by Forster
OLLI Fall Session 2015 - Loudon
Kay Menchel
Thursdays 9.40am – 11.05am

In this class we will read the two novels of E.M. Forster in which the narrative is divided between Italy and England, Where Angels Fear to Tread and A Room with a View. Along with the delights of the Italian and English countrysides, we will encounter memorable characters, comedy, tragedy, and opera. Both novels were written at the very beginning of the twentieth century and depict the tension between social expectations and personal desires. We will also watch some clips from the movie versions of the books.

24 September	Introduction and Chapters 1 and 2 of Where Angels Fear to Tread
1 October	Chapters 3-5 Where Angels Fear to Tread
8 October	Chapters 6-8 Where Angels Fear to Tread
15 October	Chapters 9 and 10 Where Angels Fear to Tread
22 October	Chapters 1-5 A Room with a View
29 October	Chapters 6-10 A Room with a View
5 November	Chapters 11-15 A Room with a View
12 November	Chapters 16-20 A Room with a View

kaymenchel@gmail.com