President's Message

Welcome Back

It is a pleasure to welcome everyone back for the start of a new program year at the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute. I'm sure that you have already taken note of the many changes and additions we have made over the summer. We have a new name, this new publication, new equipment and new rest-rooms (well, soon).

The most notable change is the addition of $12,000 of new audio-visual equipment at both Tallwood and Lake Anne. There are new projectors, computer laptops and screens. We have also turned the seating around in TA-1 to raise the screen, making it visible to all including those in back rows.

Finally, we are getting close to completion of the new rest rooms. GMU's Facilities Department made a valiant effort to meet its deadline but unfortunately ran into unexpected problems with Tallwood House. Things are now under control, and the work continues. In the meantime, please excuse the construction mess. We are about a month away from the project's completion.

Wildlife Photos in Annex Room

After three plus years of scheduling and, on occasion, installing art of other OLLI members in the Social Room Annex, Marvina Munch exhibits her photos of wildlife taken from Alaska to Africa and many points between. Included in the exhibit are some of her photos that have been published or exhibited by such organizations as the National Wildlife Federation and the National Air and Space Museum. In addition to the photos, the display includes information on the wildlife featured, where the photos were taken and any creative photo techniques used.

Notice for Event C, Battlefield Trip

If you are enrolled in this trip, it has been rescheduled for Friday, Oct. 15, 2004, 9 am – 4 pm. Please contact the office and let the staff know whether you can still attend. Those who cannot will be given a refund. The coordinator, Bob Webb, will conduct a separate, driving tour at a later date to accommodate anyone unable to reschedule to Oct. 15. We apologize for any inconvenience.

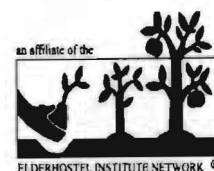

Reminder

Remember the new name tag you recently received? Please wear it while attending classes and events at Tallwood and Lake Anne. Thank you!
