Volunteer! It’s Your OLLI

OLLI is run by our members on a volunteer basis. OLLI simply would not exist without the dedication of our volunteers. They are the creative source for all courses, clubs, special events, social activities, publications, and classroom services. Make new friends and connect with fellow OLLI members by volunteering. It’s satisfying and very rewarding—even life-altering, for many OLLI volunteers. To learn more about volunteer opportunities at OLLI contact us today via the “volunteer at OLLI” email address vollli@gmu.edu or call the office at (703) 503-3384.

Spotlight on Volunteer Opportunities—Member Services

Member Services is comprised of five groups—the New Members Advisory Committee, Office Volunteers Committee, Liaison Committee, Hospitality Committee, and Social Events Committee.

New Members Advisory Committee

We all remember what it was like to be a “newie” at OLLI. The purpose of the New Members Advisory Committee is to help new members navigate their first term, answer their questions, and follow up with them to discuss their experience and any comments or suggestions they may have. You don’t have to be an “old timer” to be on this committee—you just need to be friendly, outgoing, and enjoy talking to people to gather their feedback. For more information, contact Toni Acton at jacton1@cox.net or 703-250-0404.

Office Volunteers Committee

The OLLI staff at Tallwood depends on the office volunteers to keep the office running smoothly. The office volunteer is the first person that most new members interact with. They answer the phone, greet the hundreds of people who visit the office each term, send out catalogs and new member packets, and call members on wait lists if space becomes available. Volunteers work in the office whenever it is open, in three-hour shifts. If you enjoy interacting with people and want to learn more about the workings of OLLI, this is the job for you. Experience not necessary; training is provided. We always need more volunteers. If this appeals to you, contact Toni Acton at jacton1@cox.net or 703-250-0404.

Liaison Committee

You may have noticed that at the beginning of each class, one of your fellow OLLI members introduces the instructor, provides announcements, and otherwise makes sure that everything is working well. This person is the class liaison. The Liaison Committee assigns a liaison for each class. This committee keeps track of OLLI member instructors serving as their own liaison, identifies liaisons who volunteered during registration, and secures liaisons for classes where none of these other sources has produced one.

Being a liaison is a great and easy way to give back to OLLI. Moreover, the Liaison Committee is always looking for enthusiastic individuals who can help make our classes the best they can be. For further information, please contact Jim Dunphy at olliliasongmu@gmail.com.

Hospitality Committee

The Hospitality Committee participates in a number of OLLI meetings and events during the year, including the fall and spring new members coffees, the Town Hall Meeting, the Spring Annual Meeting and Picnic, and the annual Holiday Party in December. Members welcome attendees and provide decorations, paper products and finger food as needed. For additional information, contact Elaine Leonard at belaineleonard@gmail.com or 703-644-1973.

Social Events Committee

The Social Events Committee was established to coordinate special social events at OLLI. During 2016, these included the annual ice cream social and talent show, several coffee klatches, Kids ’n’ Critters, Christmas in July, the 25th anniversary party, and the VIP Open House for past presidents, founders, and Board members. OLLI members enjoy socializing with each other outside of the classroom, so social events will continue to be a big part of the OLLI experience.

If you enjoy organizing a social event, or helping to make it happen, this is the committee for you. You can assist with all events or just the ones that fit into your schedule. If this appeals to you, contact Martha Powers at marthapowers@verizon.net.

All About OLLI

Who We Are

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at George Mason University offers daytime courses, lectures, special events, and other activities during eight-week terms in the spring and fall, a four-week winter term, and a six-week summer program. There are no exams, no credits, no college degree required or offered, and no age threshold.

Course leaders are qualified members of OLLI, George Mason University faculty, and others who enjoy sharing their knowledge. OLLI is particularly proud of its volunteer teachers and speakers, many of whom are well-known experts in their fields. The views expressed are those of the instructor and do not reflect the official policy or position of OLLI or George Mason University.

Members pay annual dues and that entitles them to attend as many activities as they wish, subject to space availability. There may be charges for materials and for some special events.

OLLI publishes an email newsletter (OLLI E-News), a catalog each term, an online membership directory, and the Member Handbook. An annual literary journal, OLLI Ink, and, from time to time, the Poets of OLLI collection are also published.

OLLI is one of many Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes affiliated with The Bernard Osher Foundation and is also a member of the Road Scholar Institute Network. OLLI is a nonprofit, equal-opportunity 501(c)(3) organization and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, or national/ethnic origin.

To park at the Mason site in Loudoun you must obtain a free parking permit from Mason in Loudoun, Suite 130. A map and addresses for all locations are printed on the inside back cover.

Catalog Organization

Courses and special events for all three sites are listed together, with Fairfax happenings indicated by the prefix “F” in the title number, Reston by an “R,” and Loudoun by an “L.” Ongoing activities for all sites are listed together.

F102 Workshop for Art
Facilitators: Suzanne Goldstein, Susann Hamilton
Class limit: 12
Bring your own sketching and/or watercolor projects for independent study. Assistance and advice will be available.

Suzanne Goldstein is a retired math teacher, a longtime attendee of OLLI sketching and watercolor classes, and facilitator of the Annex Art Club.

F103 Drawing and Sketching Portraits
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: Bill Parsons
Class limit: 14
Students with drawing experience will focus on drawing portraits for this short winter session. We will each draw one portrait from a photograph of the students’ choice, a self-portrait, and a live portrait of a classmate. Materials required are at least (but not limited to) good quality drawing paper, charcoal paper, drawing pencils, charcoal and conté crayon. Students who have taken the fall “Drawing and Sketching Workshop” will build on their abilities to draw what they actually see and not what they think they see.

Bill Parsons earned an MFA from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1978 and has worked as a furniture maker and designer, jeweler, silversmith and ceramic artist.

F104 Unsung Stars: Standing in the Shadows
Two sessions
Instructor: Michelle Blandburg
Popular music has always utilized unsung and unknown talent. Join us for two excellent documentaries exploring the talent, joys, and frustrations of those in the background. What band played on more number-one hits than the Beatles, Elvis Presley, the Rolling Stones and the Beach Boys combined? The Funk Brothers—a group of Detroit-based session musicians who were the background to most Motown recordings from 1959 to 1972. Although unknown beyond the show business world, they are considered one of the most successful groups of studio musicians in music history. Their story is told in the 2002 film Standing in the Shadows of Motown. The Funk Brothers were inducted into the Musicians Hall of Fame in 2007. The film 20 Feet from Stardom goes behind-the-scenes with back-up singers whose vocal... talents supported stars like Michael Jackson, Bette Midler, Ray Charles, Mick Jagger, and Bruce Springsteen. This film was honored with numerous awards, including the 2014 Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature. Michelle Blandburg is an OLLI Board member and officer, a music lover, and an active member of the OLLI Players. Her early childhood was spent in Detroit, within walking distance of Hitsville USA, Motown’s famous headquarters.

F105 Erroll Garner: Virtuoso Jazz Pianist
Thursdays, 2:15–3:40, Feb. 2–Feb. 9
Instructor: Michelle Blandburg
Erroll Garner was an American jazz pianist and composer known for both swing and ballads. He was considered by many as “one of the most distinctive of all pianists” and a “brilliant virtuoso.” Using an orchestral approach straight from the swing era but open to the innovations of bop, his distinctive style could swing like no other. Yet some of his best recordings are ballads, such as his best-known composition, Misty, which has become a jazz standard—and was featured in Clint Eastwood’s 1971 film, Play Misty for Me. This class will feature music and DVDs of this brilliant musician in action. The instructor had a special connection to Erroll Garner. Her father, bassist Eddie Calhoun, was a member of Garner’s trio for more than ten years. She will share childhood memories of summer travels on the road with “the guys.” She will also read reminiscences about Garner from her father’s unpublished memoir, Big-Time Sharecroppers.
See F104 for instructor information.

F106 Watercolor Painting
Thursdays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Instructor: Leonard Justinian
Class limit: 15
This class will provide an opportunity for watercolor painters at all levels to develop fresh skills while learning new watercolor techniques. Required materials include: #1, #6, and/or #8 round watercolor brushes; a paint palette for mixing colors; 140 lb. cold press watercolor paper (Arches is best, but you can use less expensive paper); a kneaded eraser; a Staedtler white plastic eraser; and tubes of watercolor paint in white, charcoal black, cadmium yellow (medium), cadmium red (medium), and ultramarine blue, or a starter set of watercolors. Leonard Justinian has been painting for more than 60 years. Among other honors, he has received the Grumbacher Award. He teaches watercolor painting in his Fairfax City studio and is also seen on Fairfax public access cable TV, Cox cable channel 10, and Verizon FiOS channel 10. He is a member of the Washington Society of Landscape Painters, www.wsip.org.

R107 The Ongoing Pleasures of Music
Mondays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Gloria Sussman
This music listening course has continued to live up to its promising title. We explore with pleasure the many facets of classical music with the use of DVDs and YouTube clips. You may sample the wide variety of musical offerings from previous terms by searching for Gloria Sussman on YouTube.com. Gloria Sussman has been teaching at OLLI since 2000 and continues to provide entertaining programs for OLLI at Reston.

R108 Talking Photography
Thursdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Instructor: Dan Feighery
In this class we will discuss a variety of picture-taking topics. We’ll begin with a re-creation of the instructor’s prior class, “Finding Photographic Art in Ordinary Everyday Things.” The following sessions will include discussion and demonstrations of macro and tabletop photography, using stained glass and a variety of lighting, and the use of single and multiple flash units. We’ll discuss the use of various accessories for the digital single lens reflex camera as well as selection of lenses. The fourth session will cover the display of photographs, including a demonstration of matting and framing. Dan Feighery, a retired Air Force officer whose interests include photography, founded the OLLI Photo Club, and has taught several OLLI photography classes over the years.

L109 Understanding Opera, Part 2
Mondays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Glenn Winters
This is a videoconference of F101.
L110 Treasures of the National Portrait Gallery and Smithsonian American Art Museum

Thursdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 19–Jan. 26
Two sessions
Instructor: Adrienne Wyman Kralick
The Smithsonian American Art Museum tells the story of America through visual art. Travel through time from colonial America captured in portraiture, through the spirit of the wild frontier, the lure of the landscape, the American impressionists and the opulence of the Gilded Age. Get to know remarkable Americans through their portraits at the National Portrait Gallery, from the popular “America’s Presidents” exhibition to icons of pop culture, all without leaving your seat. Instructor Adrienne Wyman Kralick will take you on a virtual tour of the museum, examining the works from a historical and artistic perspective.
As a working artist with a knowledge of historical painting techniques, Adrienne Wyman Kralick provides a unique behind-the-easel perspective when looking at paintings. She gives museum tours and teaches painting classes focusing on the techniques employed by different artists throughout history at the Smithsonian Associates in Washington, DC and other venues throughout the United States and abroad. More information can be found at www.AdrienneArtist.com.

Three sessions

Note dates
Coordinator: Leo Brennan

This is a repeat of F201.

F301 The 1936 and 1972 Olympics

Mondays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 23–Jan. 30

Two sessions

Instructor: Chris Elzey

The 1936 Berlin Olympics could easily be titled the Propaganda Games. The 1972 Munich Olympics could be termed the Tragic Games. Both Olympics, the only summer games ever hosted in Germany, were bound together by politics. This course explores the history of that relationship, from the Nazi takeover and planning of the Berlin Olympics to the Third Reich’s political use of the games to the birth of the 1972 Munich Olympics and Munich organizers’ attempts to refute Germany’s sinister past. Tragically, those latter attempts were largely forgotten after Palestinian extremists killed 11 Israeli athletes and officials during the games. Yet there were other events at Munich that revealed international discord and social divisiveness. Instances of Cold War hostility and racial tensions surfaced at the Games—not only in sporting events but also in the ways athletic leaders responded to them. The course will examine these issues, among others.

Chris Elzey holds a PhD in American studies from Purdue University. He is a term assistant professor in the history and art history department at George Mason University, where he teaches courses on sports history, including the history of the Olympics. He has also written about the Olympics.

F302 The Gettysburg Campaign: The Intelligence Story

Instructor: Randy Ferryman

This course on intelligence operations during the 1863 Gettysburg campaign covers an infrequently addressed topic. The course begins with a brief review of why soldiers fought, strategic plans, military structures and capabilities, and then covers the intelligence operations of each army, beginning in central Virginia and concluding in Maryland. Major clashes will be fully presented, featuring how intelligence helped shape outcomes. Intelligence successes and failures will be highlighted. Several maps, period pictures, sketches, and segments from a documentary and movie will be used to convey the intelligence story.

Randy Ferryman is a retired CIA senior officer and is still actively involved in training analysts in the national security profession. During his career, Ferryman analyzed, or directed the analysis of foreign military capabilities and developments in the Middle East, the former Soviet Union, and Africa. He began his career in 1977 as a uniformed intelligence analyst in the USAF Strategic Air Command (SAC). He has a BA degree in history and an MA in administration. He has been a student of the battle of Gettysburg for 22 years, and as an instructor has presented the battle to analysts during 40 recent tours of the battlefield.

F303 New Mexico: Past, Present, Future

Fairfax Lord of Life

Coordinator: Kathleen Burns

A bumper sticker best describes this distant state, 1,600 miles from Washington, DC: “New Mexico—It’s not new and it’s not Mexico.” With bold and bright tastes in its food, flamenco dancing, and fashions, the state of New Mexico features divergent cultures, artistic flavors, and the multi-ethnic population potpourri created from a blend of Spanish, Hispanic, Anglo, Native American, and African-American groups. Santa Fe, the third largest art market in the US, features world-class museums and streets with extensive outdoor sculpture sprinkled throughout, plus international arts fairs and forums. New Mexico has played a vital role in national and world events, such as the Manhattan Project and the creation of the nuclear age; the Navajo Code Talkers of World War II; and the African American soldiers of the Union Army during the Civil War. The state also has 400 years of a Wild West environment, coupled with dynamic and innovative change. From an historical perspective, Santa Fe dates back to 1610. Speakers will include:
Martin Chavez, former three-term mayor of Albuquerque and NM state senator; Dr. Dick Stillson, George Mason University history department; Cynthia Kelly, founder of the Atomic Heritage Foundation and leader of the Washington, DC-based coalition that successfully lobbied Congress to create the Manhattan Project National Historical Park; attorney Albert Brandt Petrasek, expert on negotiations with Native American tribes regarding nuclear cleanup and tribal energy issues in the southwest, Department of Energy, Office of Intergovernmental and Stakeholder Affairs and; Dr. Penny Morrill of the George Mason University history and art history department.

F304 Building America: The Pursuit of Land from 1607-1893

Instructor: John C. Carter

From the earliest times, all known land was owned or claimed by kings, nations, states, proprietors, companies, land companies, speculators and individuals. There was no free and open land. Unknown land that was listed on maps as "terra incognita" became known land when it was mapped by explorers. The desire to own and possess land was the main driving force in the discovery, conquest, settlement, and development of the United States. It was a phenomenon that was not limited to just the rich and powerful—common settlers had the same ambitions. This course looks at the history and process of land development in building the United States between 1607 and 1893.

John C. Carter is a retired university administrator, with master’s degrees in both history and psychology from George Mason University. He is a published author and historical researcher, focusing on early Virginia history, the American Civil War, and the American frontier.

F305 The Gray Ghost Rides Again:

The Exploits of John S. Mosby and his Partisan Band Behind Union Lines in the Civil War

Instructor: Patrick Diehl

John Singleton Mosby is one of the most celebrated figures in our Civil War history. A very colorful character, he was a hero in the south and called “devil Mosby” in the north. Beginning in 1863 he led a small group of partisan “Rangers” in countless raids upon Union detachments in northern Virginia counties. He was always able to escape from his Union cavalry pursuers by seemingly vanishing into the countryside. This course will mark the rise of Mosby as a scout and trusted figure to both J.E.B. Stuart and Robert E. Lee. We will follow Mosby’s operations against the Union troops, including the capture of a Union general in his bed, the “great wagon train raid” in Berryville, and the “great train robbery” outside Harpers Ferry. Mosby used some rather unconventional tactics, which we will study in our class.

Patrick Diehl spent 36 years in the CIA as an operations officer, mostly overseas, and served as an instructor at the CIA training school. He has visited most of the major battle sites of the Civil War.

F306 The Last Imperial Family of Czarist Russia

Instructor: Elisabeth Wolpert

This course will look at the dramatic last years of Imperial Russia. Nicholas II, the ruler of 120 million Russians, lived in a world of incomparable luxury. The happiest moment of his reign was certainly the long-awaited birth of a male heir. Unfortunately, the young son inherited hemophilia, a dreadful disease for which there was no cure at the time. The desperate empress, Alexandra, placed the fate of her son and the fate of the country in the hands of the demonic Rasputin. The pseudo-monk pushed Alexandra to resist government reforms. In 1905, the Russians achieved a partial victory by creating a parliament, the Duma. The nation did not want a revolution but a share of responsibility with the Czar. Swayed by Rasputin, Alexandra objected to an erosion of power for her husband. Unfortunately, the weak Czar gave way to her. This decision helped lead to the Revolution of 1917 and to the triumph of Lenin.

F307 Battles in Eastern Europe that Framed our Times

Instructor: Ed Janusz

The struggle for world supremacy known as the Cold War has resumed today in the dispute over Ukraine.
This presentation will address three battles near the Vistula River (in what is now Poland) and discuss how they framed Europe for the ongoing test. Those three battles are: Grunwald/Tannenberg I (1410), which laid the framework for the governance of Eastern Europe; Tannenberg II (1914), which gave impetus to the events that ultimately culminated in the communist revolution; and the Soviet/Polish/Ukrainian/Lithuanian War—“Miracle of the Vistula” (1919/1920), which contained the communist revolution for at least two decades, but laid the groundwork for fascism in the 1930s and for the current crisis in the Ukraine. Ed Janusz retired after a career in the Army Corps of Engineers and the aerospace and computer services industries. He is a published author who spent his early years among eastern Europeans and will attempt to present the events from their perspective.

F308 National Park Ranger Potpourri IX
Thursdays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 26–Feb. 9
Fairfax Lord of Life
Three sessions
Coordinators: Brad Berger, Emmett Fenlon
It’s back for round nine! Due to continued interest in the mystery “potpourri” concept, the National Park Service presenters will reveal three new topics, one on each presentation day. If you dislike surprises, this course may not be your cup of tea. We will explore a variety of local connections to people, places or events which shaped our nation’s history.
National Park Service rangers have participated with OLLI in over 80 thematic courses, special events and trips since 2001.

L309 Two Brothers from Ohio: Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machine
Mondays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Mark Weinstein
Let’s take a quick flight through yesteryear, 1900-1915, when two brothers, Orville and Wilbur Wright, pulled off the impossible: man left his earthly habitat and soared into the air with controlled, powered flight. The Wrights encompassed it all—they were visionaries, entrepreneurs, researchers, designers, builders, the first aeronautical engineers and the first aviators. They had a dream to build the first airplane, to fly, to prove to the world that flying was safe and useful, and to convert their bicycle factory to produce aircraft. It wasn’t an easy endeavor. They were bedeviled by firsts: to identify the mechanical problems and then to solve them, the realities of business and finally legal brouhahas that bedeviled them until WWI. Using material from David McCullough’s 2014 book on the Wright brothers, Smithsonian docent training material, and other archival material, we will ‘fly’ through their stories and photos and conclude with a visit to the Smithsonian Air and Space Museum where three remaining Wright aircraft are displayed.
Mark Weinstein an eight-year OLLI member, has a BSEE, has taught courses on aviation history, the “Engineers of Victory of WW II,” Cold War topics, computer innovators, American history and other topics. He is a docent at both Smithsonian Air and Space museums. In his wild impetuous youth he flew a Piper Tri-pacer.

L310 Engineers of Victory: The Problem Solvers who Turned the Tide in the Second World War, Part 2
Tuesdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Instructor: Mark Weinstein
Most warfare discussions concentrate on leaders’ grand strategies. This course differs; it focuses on how national strategies were implemented through advancements in technology and management by mid-level and often invisible ordinary soldiers, scientists, engineers and businessmen. Part 1 of this course, presented in the fall term, covered how the US went from a small poorly-equipped military in 1940 to the massive military of 1945. Part 2 will discuss individual technology leaps that provided the Allied forces with the tools to overcome specific Axis capabilities. The 1943 Casablanca Conference laid the grand design for the invasion of Europe and the eventual campaign against Japan. That was easy. Then came the most massive planning and supply operation in history. New technology had to be invented, produced, and delivered within a year and a half. Topics are: how to win command of the air; how to stop a blitzkrieg; how to seize an enemy-held shore; and how to defeat the “tyranny of distance” in the Pacific.
See L309 for instructor information.

L311 Smithsonian African American Museum
Thursdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Instructor: Ray Beery
The newest Smithsonian Museum opened in September 2016. Featuring African American history and culture, its rich collections and programs are an invitation to OLLI members to visit and learn. In this course, we will sample the offerings through presentations, discussion, audio and visual samples while remaining in Loudoun. The first session is general, followed by classes on history, community, and culture.

Ray Beery, OLLI president and regular teacher, began visiting the Smithsonian on the National Mall in 1971 and has never stopped.

L312 History of Pro Sports in Washington (Are We Cursed?)

Thursdays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Instructor: Steve Greenhouse
Washington is the home of four major professional sports franchises; one, the major league baseball team, dates back to 1901 (with an unfortunate gap from 1973 to 2004). The other three teams are each at least 42 years old. While there have been many moments of glory and a few championships, mostly won by the Washington Redskins football team (5 in 80 seasons), there also have been long periods of mediocre play and very few important victories. This course traces the history of the four teams, including high and low points, their greatest players, their management travails, and the cultural issues which have influenced their history. A pessimist might conclude there is a curse on DC’s teams, a dark cloud under which they must forever play their games!

Steve Greenhouse is a retired electrical engineer who worked in the space communications field for the last 35 years of his career. He has a PhD in electrical engineering from Catholic University. Steve has been a long-suffering fan of all four of Washington’s pro sports teams. He looks upon the extensive preparation and presentation of this course as both a challenge and an educational experience. Yes, Steve believes, teachers can learn along with their students.

F401 Those Were the Days: Sitcoms of the ‘70s

Mondays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Martha Powers
In 1973 and ’74, CBS aired four situation comedies back-to-back on Saturday nights: All in the Family, M*A*S*H, The Mary Tyler Moore Show, and The Bob Newhart Show. If you miss that golden age of sitcoms, when Saturday night TV was the highlight of the week, then you’ll enjoy this trip down memory lane. Each week, we’ll watch two of the very best episodes from these great series. We’ll have time for some up-front commentary before watching them, plus more time to share our thoughts after each. Forget about winter and look forward to laughing!

Martha Powers is an OLLI member who enjoys sharing classic movies and TV shows with fellow movie lovers.

F402 Why Did We Watch Downton Abbey? And Does It Matter that We Did?

Mondays, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 23–Jan. 30
Two sessions
Instructor: Dina Copelman
Isn’t the answer obvious?—we watched Downton Abbey because it’s an engrossing, well-acted and well-produced show. Many want to find out more about the show’s historical accuracy and its broader historical context. However, as a significant social and cultural phenomenon, the show invites us to think about not just the past, but also the present. How have issues and trends concerning us today shaped the show? What does the show tell us about ourselves? Has the show’s enormous success, in turn, become a cultural force, something that doesn’t just present the past and reflect the present, but shapes the ways we perceive the world and how we approach the future? It’s a long way from sitting in our homes Sunday nights to changing the future, but this course will consider all these things as we explore all things Downton Abbey.

Dina Copelman joined the George Mason University Department of History and Art History in 1988 and is currently a professor of history and cultural studies. Her primary area of research is modern British social and cultural history. Between 2011 and 2016 she wrote historical analyses of the show for WETA’s website.

F403 Tony Hillerman’s Navajo Tribal Police Mystery Novels and “Indian Land”

Tuesdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Instructor: James K. Boyter
The novelist Tony Hillerman received the Edgar Award (Mystery Writers of America) in 1973 for his second Joe Leaphorn novel, Dance Hall of the Dead, and also received multiple nominations for the Edgar and other awards for his other detective novels, mostly set in the Navajo Nation. Emphasis will be on sharing highlights from some of Hillerman’s 18 Navajo Tribal Police detective novels. Hillerman’s books provide details about the culture of his subjects—Hopi, Zuni, European-American, federal agents, and especially Navajo Tribal Police. Hillerman ably depicts the beauty of Navajo Lands as well as its harshness, and how these natural features drive the life of the Navajo people. In addition to describing the crimes and the tribal laws and practices, his books address past and current historical events that the Navajo Tribal Police must deal with when solving crimes. Tony Hillerman’s life and career as a writer will be discussed, and we will consider what features of his novels make them popular with readers.

OLLI member James K. Boyter is retired from the Army and civil service. He has MS degrees in biophysics and genetics from University of Colorado Medical School, operations research and systems analysis from the Naval Postgraduate School, and software engineering from George Mason University. His last job was as a systems/software architect for the US Army Materiel Command. Boyter has been interested in American Indians since he was a boy. He has made seven trips to the Navajo Nation in the Southwest and has read (some twice) all 18 of Hillerman’s Navajo Tribal Police mysteries, his book of short stories, his memoirs, and Hillerman’s daughter Ann’s two novels.

F404 Meet the Authors
Tuesdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Coordinator: Katie Mitchell
What does being an author entail? Here is another opportunity to find out. Our four authors will each make book presentations. Then it is up to you to ask the questions about their sources of inspiration, writing difficulties, and publishing hurdles. It is also an opportunity to give back to the community by telling your friends about the books and authors and possibly even buying a book or two.

- Jan. 17: Joe Urschel: An award winning journalist/documentary producer, he has held executive positions with USA Today and the Newseum. His work, The Year of Fear, depicts depression-era gangsters, kidnappings, and the rise of J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI.
- Jan. 24: Cynthia Darling: The author has a diversified background in public administration and social services. Her novel, Georgetown Journeys, follows 50 years in the lives of two persons of disparate backgrounds arriving in Georgetown in the 1960s.
- Jan. 31: Jake Russell: A DC sports enthusiast, he had a decade-long stint with Washington Redskin’s website TheHogs.net. He is currently a sports news aide/writer for The Washington Post. His book is 100 Things Nationals Fans Should Know & Do Before They Die covering the highs and lows of D.C. baseball in the 20th and 21st centuries.
- Feb. 7: Keith Clark: The author is professor of English and African and African American studies at George Mason University. His book, The Radical Fiction of Ann Petry, is an exploration of novels/short stories written by the first African American woman to sell one million copies of a book. This presentation might also touch on Black Manhood in James Baldwin, Ernest Gaines, and August Wilson. If we are really lucky, we may get a glimpse into his current research for a work-in-progress on Ernest Gaines.

F405 A Year in Provence
Tuesdays, 2:00–3:40, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Note time
Instructor: Dave Talaber
Calling all OLLI Francophiles! Chase away those winter blues with a trip to the south of France! Peter and Annie Mayle fulfilled their cherished dream when they quit the London rat race and moved to rustic Provence to savor the French way of life—good food, fine wines, and a seductive climate. Ah, but the Provençal way of life is something quite different—even the French find it peculiar. Based on Peter Mayle’s international bestseller by the same name, the four-part mini-series A Year in Provence is a hilarious account of the Mayles’ adjusting to both the idiosyncrasies of the locals and the quaint traditions of this ancient and charming region. Vive la difference!

Dave Talaber, an OLLI member, retired from the US Army in 1995 and in a second career with the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army, again retired in 2013. A self-described amateur historian, European film buff, camera collector, and Francophile, he and his wife Angela live in Woodbridge. When not participating in OLLI events, he attends photography classes at NoVA, volunteers with the Siamese Cat Rescue Center, and enjoys travel and being a grandfather.

F406 Poetry Workshop
Moderators: Mike McNamara, Jan Bohall
Class limit: 16
This workshop allows both novice and experienced poets the opportunity to share their work and receive suggestions for improvement. Workshop members should bring an original poem in draft or revised form to each session. Two poems should be sent to the Tallwood office for duplication one week before the first class meeting and a third poem brought to the first session. The moderators will email students after registration to let them know exactly when and where to send their poems for the first class.

Mike McNamara, an OLLI member, has been published in several literary journals and magazines and has received awards from the Poetry Society of Virginia.

Jan Bohall, also an OLLI member, has had poems published in various periodicals and has won awards from the Poetry Society of Virginia.

F408  OLLI Actor’s Studio

Thursdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Clifton Lord of Life
Instructors: Wendy Campbell, Manny Pablo, Kathie West

This is an acting class for those mature actors among us who want to hone their acting skills by working seriously on a script until they truly understand the character they are portraying. Over time, and with constructive criticism and input from our fellow thespians, we will work to sharpen such things as inflection, voice projection, physicality, focus, and blocking, while retaining spontaneity and the making of fearless choices. We will try to decide what kinds of props are necessary for the understanding of the action. In short, we would like to gather a few actors together who want to improve their acting skills. All participants will practice a number of roles.

Wendy Campbell graduated from Marymount University with a MEd. She taught in the gifted program in Fairfax County public schools for 20 years, introducing 10-12-year olds to the wonders of Shakespeare, Plautus, and Sophocles.

Manuel Pablo is a longtime OLLI member who dabbles in many areas, from music, to history, to art, and even poetry, hoping to find something he is good at. He is getting a fine education along the way.

Kathie West, an OLLI member, is a former theater teacher at Robert E. Lee High School and Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and Technology.

F409  Acting for Fun

Thursdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Coordinator: Roxanne Cramer
Class limit: 20

This is a class for those who enjoy acting short skits or scenes from plays. Limited to 20 participants, it will be small enough so that you will have frequent opportunities to interact with other class members. No memorization is required, but rehearsals are highly recommended. They can take place before class or by telephone. Elaborate props and costumes aren’t needed but a scarf or hat or suggestion of a costume could help establish your character. Great acting ability is not required, just a desire to act for fun.

F410  Digital Scrapbooking in the 21st Century

Two sessions
Instructor: Wendy Campbell

Wendy Campbell is hopeless at the simple kindergarten skills of scissors and glue and is also limited in her basic camera skills. So she had to find another way to preserve the memories when her younger son married nine years ago. Since then she has made innumerable photo scrapbooks for every family occasion. In this class you will learn about the variety of downloadable “apps” for building digital scrapbooks and be introduced to a myriad of ideas for picture book building, including storytelling, memory banking, and personalizing books for future generations. Safeguarding memories for your family, friends, and descendants has never been easier. This class is meant to be an introduction only. Participants will be asked to try out ideas using their home computers and then to share the results with the class.

See F408 for instructor information.
R411 Mystery Short Stories: Meet the Author
Instructor: Josh Pachter
Josh Pachter's short crime stories have appeared in Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine, Alfred Hitchcock's Mystery Magazine, The Saturday Evening Post, and many other publications since the late 1960s. During the '80s, he wrote a series of ten stories about Mahboob Chaudri, a Pakistani living and working as a police detective in the Middle Eastern island emirate of Bahrain. In 2015, the ten Chaudri stories were collected into a single volume and published as The Tree of Life. In this class, we'll read and discuss the Mahboob Chaudri stories with their author. At the first class meeting, copies of the book will be available (for $15), and Pachter will talk about his year in Bahrain and his experiences as a professional author. Then, during each of the next three sessions, we'll discuss several of the stories.

Josh Pachter, a frequent OLLI instructor, is assistant dean for communication studies and theater at Northern Virginia Community College's Loudoun campus. He earned an MA in speech communication at the University of Michigan and has been teaching at the college level since 1978.

F501 Spanish Conversation: Kaleidoscope of Latin America
Mondays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Ligia Glass
A kaleidoscope is a tube with mirrors and loose pieces of glass so you can see many different patterns when you turn the tube; it is also defined as a mixture of many different things. This class will present a kaleidoscope of Latin America in four topics: history, music, famous sites/travel destinations, and traditional foods and holiday celebrations. While there will be emphasis on spoken Spanish by both the instructor and students, you do not need to have taken previous Spanish conversation classes nor do you have to be fully fluent. Having a basic understanding of Spanish and being able to put together sentences will help with the conversation. Be ready to learn all about Latin America as you hear yourself and others speak Spanish, all while having fun. Students will be encouraged to do a bit of "research" on a topic, such as a place visited, a favorite dish, type of music, and then present it the following week in simple Spanish sentences, of course! Outline of each week's topics:
- Jan. 23: History of Latin America; comparison of Hispanic and Latino culture; the Latino "look;" ethnic groups.
- Jan. 30: Music and dance; origins of tango, merengue, salsa, cha-cha-cha, and others.
- Feb. 6: Famous sites; Chichen Itza, Galapagos, Machu Picchu, Iguazu Falls, Angel Falls, etc.
- Feb. 13 Holiday celebrations; traditional foods/dishes.

F601 Zoroastrianism: From Ancient Faith to Modern Traditions
Mondays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 23–Feb. 13
Instructor: Johnnie Hicks
Class limit: 85
Zarathushtra (Greek: Zoroaster) was a Persian prophet credited with having revealed the world’s first creedal monotheistic religion. Zoroastrianism flourished from the sixth century BCE to the seventh century CE, greatly influencing mankind across vast stretches of Central Asia and the Middle East. While a few scattered communities of Zoroastrians still exist, its noteworthiness lies in the impact of its history and teachings in shaping today’s major Western religions, as well as a host of other Gnostic faiths and traditions. Zoroastrianism is best represented by its simple mantra: “Good Thoughts, Good Words, Good Deeds.” This model of ethical teachings is credited for guiding Kings Cyrus, Darius, Xerxes, and others during the Great Persian Empire, as well as establishing a system for political and social justice still recognized in democratic governments today. This course will focus primarily on the impact of Zoroastrianism on Judaism and, by extension, the evolution of later Judeo-Christian-Islamic traditions. Finally, we will recognize Zoroastrian cultural influences among Iranians, Kurds, Afghans, and others as we come to better understand the complexities of our ever-evolving world.
Johnnie Hicks is an OLLI member who has previously taught courses on cultural and religious issues. She holds an MA degree in counseling and human development from the University of Iowa and has focused her career around multicultural issues. She worked in Fairfax County public schools during a time of rapid growth in global diversity, while teaching George Mason University courses on understanding world cultures and religions.

We will examine Jesus’ use of parables as a means of teaching about the nature, character, and will of God; the foibles and possibilities of humans; and the obligations of humans toward each other and their Creator. Many of Jesus’ most well-known parables will be analyzed and discussed, including the different ways these parables have been understood as guides to Christian doctrine. Steven C. Goldman is the chair of OLLI’s Religious Studies program planning group and has taught numerous courses on alternative understandings of Biblical doctrine.

F603 The Dead Sea Scrolls

Tuesdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 17–Feb. 7

Instructor: Gilah Goldsmith

The Dead Sea Scrolls have been a source of excitement and controversy and the subject of much speculation and outright misinformation since the first scrolls were discovered in 1947. Where do they come from, who wrote them, what do they say, and what do they mean? This course will address these questions, although it may not answer them.

- Jan 17: Discovery, ownership and publication—a twisty tale.
- Jan 24: What the scrolls include—a wide ranging library.
- Jan 31: What the scrolls tell us about the history of the Hebrew Bible—surprises and confirmations.
- Feb. 7: What the scrolls tell us about Rabbinic Judaism and early Christianity—commonalities and competition.

Gilah Goldsmith is a graduate of Harvard University and The George Washington University Law School. She is a retired government attorney who, for 20 years, has led the weekly Torah study group at Beth El Hebrew Congregation.

F604 “The Plain People”: An Introduction to the Quakers, Amish and Mennonites of Lancaster County, PA

Instructor: Rita Way

Three sects of Protestant pacifists settled in colonial Pennsylvania to give it a character that continues to color the state today. They are the Quakers, Amish, and Mennonites. All share a common origin because they faced religious persecution after dissenting from religious conformity. This course will introduce you to the sects called “The Plain People.” Be an armchair traveler as we journey into the beautiful green countryside dotted with meticulous Amish farms that are run without electricity. We will study the customs, beliefs, life styles, convictions, and way of life of these peace-loving people. We will learn how Quakers revolutionized social justice and treatment of the insane, look at how Quakers observe their faith, and what a Quaker Meeting is like. The course will uncover the common lineage that binds the Mennonites to the Amish and Quakers, as well as the four beliefs of the Mennonites that set them apart. The course will consist of lecture, presentation, discussion, and even a Pennsylvania Dutch treat.

Rita E. Way studied at the Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing. She worked as a medical-surgical nurse for 12 years, after which she worked for a long-term care company that owned and managed both skilled nursing and assisted living homes. Way has taught other courses at OLLI and enjoys teaching so much that she put together this course.

R606 For All the Saints: A Survey of Canonization, Hagiography, Iconography, and Devotion in Selected Christian Traditions

Mondays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 23–Feb. 13

Instructor: Pete Gustin

The September 2016 canonization of Mother Teresa of Calcutta raises a number of questions about sainthood; e.g., is the Pope the only one who can make saints? Do Protestants even have saints? Do Catholics worship saints (or anyone else who isn’t God)? Using visual arts, music, and other media, this course will explore the official ecclesiastical journey toward sainthood, as well as a wide variety of mythology associated with lesser-venerated but better-known saints. It will explore various theologies of sainthood and will seek to explain how certain symbols came to be associated with certain saints.

Dr. Pete Gustin received his BA (English/philosophy) from Coppin State College, Baltimore, with a concurrent AB in Theology from St. Mary’s Seminary College, Baltimore. He received his MDiv from Virginia Theological Seminary and his DMin from Seabury-Western Theological Seminary.

R607 What Happened After Vatican II?
Tuesdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Instructor: Martin Walsh
When Pope Paul VI triumphantly closed the Second Vatican Council on December 8, 1965, few imagined that Catholic unity worldwide would soon be shaken, as his last encyclical, Humanae Vitae, (1968) reaffirmed the church’s position on birth control. For the first time, Catholics followed its conscience, openly challenging the pope’s decision. Thus began the turbulent, hopeful, painful, and surprising journey of the world’s largest religion. Five popes reigned since then: Paul VI died in 1978 after becoming largely withdrawn; John Paul I died suddenly after only 33 days. Saint John Paul II, the first Polish pope, reigned 28 years, the fourth longest. He traveled over 773,000 miles, visited 129 countries, survived an assassination attempt, appointed over two-thirds of today’s cardinals, and oversaw the priest pedophile scandal, while ruling the Church with an iron fist in a velvet glove. Benedict XVI, conservative Cardinal Ratzinger, abruptly resigned in 2013, the first pope to do so in 700 years. Francis—Cardinal Bergoglio—chose his name in honor of St. Francis Assisi. He is the first pope from South America and the first Jesuit. The course will discuss the impact of each of these popes and explore what lies ahead.
Martin Walsh, former Jesuit and retired nonprofit executive, will lead you on a challenging adventure as we examine the Second Vatican Council and why it is so important today.

R608 The Legacy of C.S. Lewis: Shadowlands & Beyond
Wednesdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 18–Feb. 8
Rose Gallery at Reston Community Center Lake Anne
Instructor: Laurence K. Packard
Come join this special journey into the life and work of C.S. Lewis. Few theologians shaped the last century like Lewis, the British professor and atheist turned Christian and prolific author. Most have heard of his Mere Christianity, The Problem of Pain, or the poignant account of his wife’s death and his struggle for faith in A Grief Observed. However, this class faces the challenge to name his real legacy beyond the books. What direction has he given for the journey of each individual at the start of a new century? Using the movie, Shadowlands, we will see the cornerstones of the Lewis legacy in the loss of his friend and wife, Joy Gresham.
The Rev. Dr. Laurence K. Packard is a newly retired Episcopal priest. He received his BA in history at Wake Forest University, masters in divinity at Virginia Theological Seminary and his doctor of ministry at Princeton. He has studied and taught C.S. Lewis for large groups and for seminars—but always with the challenge: “If you learn about Lewis and follow in his footsteps, once his footsteps cease—what will your next step be in your life’s journey?”

Instructor: Stephen R. Ruth
This course examines the causes, effects, and manifestations of the blog culture and the proliferation of social media in today’s world. It will also consider its impact on the rise of social issues such as terrorism, pornography, and cyber-bullying. The course also addresses topics such as uses of “digital empowerment” programs and online “filter bubbles.” Discussion questions relating to the possible future of blogs and social media include: Will social media gradually replace print and TV media? And What might be government’s role in Internet oversight and legislation? Professor Ruth currently teaches a graduate seminar course on these topics at Mason’s Schar School of Policy and Government. “It’s as fresh as a course can be and, surprisingly, the topics have a history that goes back for millennia!”

L656 Evidence-Based Policing
Tuesdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Instructor: Cynthia Lum
Evidence-based policing suggests that research knowledge should have a “seat at the table” when police officials make decisions about what to do about crime and community relations. In this class, students will learn about the current and alternative approaches to policing, exploring what research has discovered about many policing practices. Students will also learn about the challenges to implementing evidence-based policing.
Cynthia Lum graduated from the University of Maryland with a PhD in criminology and criminal justice. She is the director of the Center for Evidence-Based Crime Policy, and associate professor in the Department of Criminology, Law, and Society at George Mason. F702 Politics and Policy
Tuesdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 17–Feb. 7
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: Helen R. Desfosses
We live in a time of growing cynicism about politics, and about our nation’s ability to surmount partisan polarization in order to adopt the policies that America needs to thrive as a 21st century democracy. Our course will first look at the neutral realities of politics and policy. Policy is what government does and does not do with its scarce resources, while politics is the process by which these choices are made. We will discuss and debate which political skills are invaluable and how they can be taught; whether the built-in institutional fragmentation of the American political system can be bridged through bipartisan cooperation, or whether constitutional change is necessary; and old and new methods of citizen impact, including social media. We’ll discuss gripping case studies from Chris Matthews’s book, Hardball: How Politics is Played, and review daily newspapers addressing problems and possible solutions to the politics and policy relationship.

Helen R. Desfosses, PhD, is a retired professor of public administration and policy, a former elected official, and a consultant around the world on effective and transparent elections. She has previously taught several OLLI courses.

R703 All the News That’s Fit to Print
Thursdays, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 19–Feb. 9
Moderator: Dick Kennedy
This is your chance to discuss news and current events with other OLLI members who are trying to understand and evaluate our changing world. More than ever, we need to question information that comes to us from TV, radio, the Internet, magazines, and newspapers. We will examine and discuss some of the day’s hot topics in world, national, and local news. In order to have time to explore issues and get various insights, we focus on a small number of topics. This is an interactive class, and all viewpoints and opinions are respected, needed, and welcomed. As Walter Cronkite once said, “In a democracy agreement is not required, but participation is.”

Dick Kennedy, an OLLI member, is a retiree from the senior executive service at the Department of Housing and Urban Development. He enjoys analyzing the news from multiple sources and engaging in good discussions with colleagues.

F802 Psychology Potpourri
Thursdays, 9:40–11:05, Jan. 26–Feb. 9
Three sessions
Coordinator: Cathey Weir
- Jan. 26: The Role of Cognitive Processes in Health.
- Dr. Linda Chrosniak, director of George Mason University’s undergraduate honor program in psychology, will describe how the way people think about the world around them can influence them physically and mentally, in positive and negative ways. We will discuss different cognitive styles and explore their relationships to health concerns, such as cardiovascular disease, depression and others.
- Dr. Carryl Baldwin, associate chair of the Mason psychology department. Sensory Changes, such as hearing loss, can be mistaken for or exacerbate cognitive impairments. Several recent studies show the interaction between hearing and cognitive abilities. For example, young people presented with speech stimuli at reduced intensity levels show processing difficulties that mirror age-related information processing problems. Evidence and implications for sensory-cognitive interactions will be discussed and demonstrated.
- Feb. 9: Understanding Alzheimer’s Disease. Dr. Jane Flinn, George Mason University associate professor of psychology, will be the presenter. The brains of those with Alzheimer’s disease (AD) contain plaques and tangles, which spread though the brain in a predictable way. Because different brain regions are involved with specific behaviors, the changes in... memory and in behavior in those who have AD can be understood. Drug development has been slower than hoped for, but certain behaviors, such as exercise, can act in a preventative fashion.

955 “The Spill” in Australian Politics and Its Impact on Government
Thursday, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 19
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: Kathleen Burns
The kangaroo, the koala and the echidna are animals unique to Australia. But something equally unusual is an aspect of their election system called the “spill.” In the United States, the Constitution lays out a very detailed process on how to pick the president. But the Australian Constitution makes no mention on how citizens pick their leader, the prime minister. Instead, registered voters pick a local candidate to serve as their member of the Parliament (MP). These MPs then elect (or dump) their party leader via an internal caucus system. Then the leaders of a party (or parties) who can form a majority government in the House of Representatives can then recommend an individual to be appointed prime minister by the governor general, who is the representative of the Queen. But sometimes this process goes awry and the public has no input into the selection of the new leader. A spill can occur when a member of the party in power challenges the current leader in a caucus fight. In the five-year period from 2010 to 2015, Australia had a shift five times in the choice of a prime minister—but in only two of those cases did the changes occur at the ballot box. On September 14, 2015, such a change occurred through a partisan caucus vote. Thus, in a country with 23.9 million people, the new prime minister won by ten votes. Come hear how this system works and the potential damage it can cause to public confidence in the selection of a national leader. Kathleen Burns spent five years in Australia as a member of the parliamentary press gallery and has returned “Down Under” nine times to give lectures. She was in the country when two of the recent spills occurred. She also served as program director for the Center for Australian and New Zealand Studies at Georgetown University.

Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructors: Jim Lewis, Brian McEnany
Much has been written about the battle of Gettysburg and General Lee’s retreat, but little has been written about how the Union Army reached there in June 1863. McEnany and Lewis will explain the plight of the soldiers in an army “in a hurry to get somewhere,” as one soldier later wrote. They will trace the movement of the Union II Corps across the byways and roads of Northern Virginia to describe how tens of thousands of soldiers, wagons and animals endured intense heat and torrential rains to cross a swollen Potomac River at Edwards Ferry. A few days later, these same soldiers fought the bloodiest battle of the Civil War at Gettysburg.

See 951 for Jim Lewis’ biography.
After a career researching and writing about military operations in the US Army and the defense industry, the West Point Class of 1862 and the Civil War has become Brian McEnany’s fulltime avocation. He is a member of the Bull Run Civil War Roundtable and has given numerous presentations to civil war groups, the Army Navy Club in Washington, DC, AUSA’s Lemnitzer Lecture series, and several government agencies.

Fairfax Lord of Life

959  A Wild Solution for Climate Change
Wednesday, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 25
Fairfax Lord of Life
Coordinator: Fred Kaiser
Climate change is intimately intertwined with the biology of the planet. The planet is now 0.9° Celsius warmer than in pre-industrial times. This talk will describe observed impacts and projected ones. It will also look at the contribution that ecosystem restoration can play in removing carbon dioxide from the atmosphere before it traps radiant heat and causes further climate change. Thomas Lovejoy, known as “the Godfather of Biodiversity,” is a university professor at George Mason University. An ecologist who has worked in the Brazilian Amazon since 1965, he is currently chair of the Scientific Technical Advisory Panel for the Global Environment Facility, the multibillion-dollar funding mechanism for developing countries in support of their obligations under international environmental conventions. He received his BS and PhD in biology from Yale University.

960  Laura Ingalls Wilder: The Woman, the Stories, the Times
Wednesday, 2:15–3:40, Jan. 25
Rose Gallery, Reston Community Center Lake Anne
Instructor: Nancy Scheeler
Written during the 1930s, the Little House series of books by Laura Ingalls Wilder continues to enchant both children and adults alike. The books depict pioneer life as the Ingalls family traveled from the big woods of Wisconsin westward to seek new opportunities. Wilder didn't begin writing the series until she was in her mid-60s and retired from her earlier journalistic activities. She earned all her fame and fortune after the age of 65. Recent publications of Wilder’s own writings—including Pioneer Girl: The Annotated Autobiography and The Selected Letters of Laura Ingalls Wilder—allow us a glimpse into the real life of this beloved author. There are two major story lines: the life that Wilder actually lived and remembered and the stories that she told in her Little House series. Emerging scholarship asserts that Laura’s daughter Rose, a writer herself, influenced her mother to exaggerate the independence and self-sufficiency of the Ingalls family in the series as a protest to the liberal policies of FDR at the time the Little House books were being written. We will examine differences between Wilder’s autobiography and letters and the stories she wrote, in the context of her times.

Nancy Scheeler holds a master’s degree and completed coursework for the PhD in English and American literature at the University of Maryland. She usually teaches OLLI courses on contemporary British writers well known in the UK but not to US readers. In this class, she is looking back to the reading of her childhood and still finding it intriguing today.

961  That’s Jazz by Mike Baker, Jr.
Friday, 1:00–2:30, Jan. 27
Tallwood
Instructor: Mike Baker, Jr.
Jazz is a music genre that originated from African American communities of New Orleans during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Jazz linked common bonds of African American and European American musical parentage with a performance orientation. Mike Baker’s documentary, That’s Jazz, tells the story of jazz through many of the legendary greats. Included in the film are renowned bassist Milt Hinton, trumpeter Doc Cheatham, pianist Herbie Hancock, and Duke Ellington at the piano. The presentation also traces jazz music through dance, art, and the education of young artists. Hollywood actor and jazz artist, Billie Dee Williams, takes us on a journey through jazz artistry, and Wynton Marsalis explains the importance of jazz education in America. In addition to showing the one-hour documentary, Baker will take audience questions concerning America’s jazz legacy.

Mike Baker, Jr. holds a BA and MA in English. He is a seven-time Emmy-winning TV host, producer, and reporter. He has received five Telly awards, four Videographer awards and a MarCom creative award. Four of his documentaries have aired on the Bravo cable network. Baker has also hosted and produced over 300 National Arts episodes for Bravo. He is president of National Arts Television, Inc. and is an assistant professor at Northern Virginia Community College.
962 Native Americans—First Peoples, Sovereign Protectors
Monday, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 30
Loudoun
Instructor: Michael Nephew
The original peoples of this land are embroiled in a battle that is based both on their status as sovereign nations and on their relationship to the land. There is currently an encampment protesting the Dakota Access Pipeline that is the largest gathering of Native nations and peoples since the Battle of Greasy Grass, also known as the Battle of Little Big Horn. The current issues include protecting sacred sites, burial sites, and the water—water not just for their community but for the communities and animals downstream. They are joined in their fight by farmers in Iowa. While most major media outlets are blacking out the story, unarmed peaceful protestors are having to confront attack dogs, riot police with weapons drawn, and armored vehicles.
Michael Nephew is a past president of the American Indian Society, a former community and manpower planner for Native communities and a former trainer, curriculum developer, researcher, and editor for the Institute for the Development of Indian Law.

963 Genealogy Research in the Virginia Room
Tuesday, 11:50–1:15, Jan. 31
Tallwood
Instructor: Laura S. Wickstead
This class is an introduction to resources for family history research in the Virginia Room of the City of Fairfax Regional Library. Researchers will learn about the tools to discover and access collections. They will get information about the extensive holdings of books, photographs, maps, microfilmed newspapers and records, subject files and manuscript collections for Fairfax County and independent cities. Genealogists will learn about resources for Virginia, national and international family history research. These include books, periodicals and online databases. The collection includes place, church and organization histories, military histories and records, biographies, and census, cemetery, land, tax, probate and vital records. The Virginia Room also has significant resources to track immigrant ancestors. Genealogy research experience is not necessary.
Laura S. Wickstead has spent 18 years working in special research collections within public libraries, providing reference service to genealogists and researchers of every age and interest. She has a master’s degree in library science and has been the Virginia Room librarian at the City of Fairfax Regional Library of the Fairfax County Public Library system since 2012.

964 The 60-Year Struggle for Gay Rights
Wednesday, 9:40–11:05, Feb. 1
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: David Heymsfeld
The course will consider the battle for gay civil rights from the 1950s to today, reviewing both victories and defeats. At the start of this period, few gays were open about their identity. In many states gay sex was a crime. Being gay was classified as a mental disorder by the American Psychiatric Association, and a gay identity was grounds for denial of a security clearance, discharge from the military and dismissal from jobs. The battle for civil rights began when enough gays became willing to publicly identify and advocate for change. The 60-year struggle, which has been marked by victories and setbacks, has made considerable progress in protecting gay rights. Notable recent victories have been the decision to allow gays to serve in the military, and the US Supreme Court decisions giving constitutional protection for the rights of gays to marry, which was celebrated by a bathing of the White House in rainbow-colored lights. We will also consider the changes in public attitudes about gays, and the legal, political and communications strategies followed by gay rights advocates.
David Heymsfeld, an OLLI member, served on congressional professional staff for 35 years. He has taught several OLLI courses on history and is a volunteer guide for the Newseum.

965 The American Bison: Legends, Lore and Legacy
Friday, 1:00–2:30, Feb. 3
Tallwood
Instructor: Wayne Wolfersberger
Once, millions of bison roamed the great plains of North America. Westward expansion nearly led to their extinction. The wild bison of Yellowstone, the largest population of continuously free-ranging bison, had declined to a low of 23 animals in 1895 when conservation measures began. What are some of the factors that contributed to their near-extinction? How many were there really? Yellowstone played a vital role in saving the American bison, but is their future secure? Even today we often see in the news that hundreds of Yellowstone bison are slaughtered. Why? Their story continues today and will unfold in a slide format with historical photographs, paintings and many personal images taken by the author during his 14 summers living in Yellowstone, where he worked as a US National Park Service ranger/naturalist. A few artifacts will be available for handling during the presentation.

Wayne Wolfersberger has degrees from University of Maryland and George Mason University in the areas of conservation, ecology and science education. He worked for the US Fish and Wildlife Service, Fairfax County Public Schools and the US Department of the Interior. He has taught in Virginia, Maryland and the United Kingdom. Wolfersberger currently works part time for Mason, and he teaches photography and runs nature photography workshops. Visit his website, Nature Is Wild Photography, at www.waynewolfersberger.com.

966 Discover What Your Libraries Can Do for You
Wednesday, 9:40–11:05, Feb. 8
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: Mohammed Esslami
Class limit: 30
To many, a library is synonymous with books, a mere depository that people use to borrow materials and ask fact-related questions. Nothing can be further from the truth. While most libraries do host a collection of books and other physical materials, they also offer a myriad of other services that most people know nothing about. Join us during this workshop to learn about all the free services available to you through the Fairfax County Public Library system. The instructor will demonstrate how to best navigate the catalog, utilize reader’s advisory services, and learn about online services. Your public library is not simply a repository for information, but a place for learning, exploring and building relationships.

Mohammed Esslami is a graduate of the Catholic University of America’s School of Library and Information Sciences, where he earned his master’s degree. He is currently the branch manager at the George Mason Regional Library, a branch of the Fairfax County Public Library system. He teaches both library staff and the public about the library’s services.

967 The Kent State Killings Revisited
Wednesday, 2:15–3:40, Feb. 8
Fairfax Lord of Life
Instructor: Thomas M. Grace
This lecture will cover one of the most searing incidents of American history during the Vietnam era—the killing of four students and the wounding of nine others, including an instructor, by the Ohio National Guard at Kent State University in May 1970. In a critique of Grace’s recently published study, Kent State: Death and Dissent in the Long Sixties, one reviewer described the book as “a systematic deconstruction of many media-generated myths,” among them that the campus was without an activist tradition, that the National Guard members were young and inexperienced, and that the killings led to an end of the era of mass protest. Taking issue with these myths, the instructor shows that Kent State was not a tragic anomaly. Rather, it was grounded in a tradition of activism extending back to labor battles and civil rights protests of the 1950s. Thus the fatal shootings at Kent State were the culmination of a conflict between the forces of radicalism and repression that unfolded throughout the decade of the 1960s.

Thomas M. Grace, PhD, is the author of Kent State: Death and Dissent in the Long Sixties. He is an adjunct professor of American history at Erie Community College.

968 Edmund Burke: Often Quoted, Little Known
Wednesday, 2:15–3:40, Feb. 8
Rose Gallery at Reston Community Center Lake Anne
Instructor: Beth Lambert
It is probably safe to say that Edmund Burke is quoted several times a year in political discussions of every stripe. Yet it is equally probable that most of the time a listener or reader will think, “Who is Edmund Burke?” In brief: Burke was a statesman whose profound intellectual grasp of 18th century British politics was so infused with an understanding of human nature that his statements about political issues are as accurate today as they were in the 18th century. In his time Britain was dealing with rebellion in the American colonies, a burgeoning empire in India, the slave trade, religious issues at home, and a revolution in France. His writings and speeches on all of these issues fill nine volumes. Yet Burke was much more than a political figure of note; the story of his life involves Irish connections that were not always on the right side of the law; his wife who kept both his important papers and his household in order, his colorful extended family, a group of eclectic friends, and neighbors who came to him to settle boundary disputes in their small village.

Beth Lambert is coordinator of the Reston OLLI Program and of the History Club. She is professor emerita of English at Gettysburg College where she taught courses on all aspects of the 18th century in Britain. Her biography of Edmund Burke was published by the University of Delaware Press.

969 Of all Things, Love
Monday, 11:50–1:15, Feb. 13
Loudoun
Instructor: Conrad Geller
Love has caused more pain, despair and—let’s face it—more pure misery than almost any other human experience. Poets have been at the forefront in chronicling such destructiveness. From Ovid through Shakespeare, all the way up to OLLI’s own Conrad Geller, poets have attempted to define, describe, and otherwise memorialize the tender trap. A few have even found love to be a pleasurable emotion. In this class, the presenter will show some of the best, most provocative examples of love poetry. Included, beyond the above-mentioned poets, are such names as Dante, Dickinson, Browning, and Millay.

Conrad Geller, an OLLI member, clearly knows nothing about this subject, but he hopes members of the audience will help to clarify matters.

Don’t Be ‘Left Out In The Cold’... Practice Safety

- If the weather is bad use common sense when deciding to come to OLLI. If your neighborhood has treacherous conditions, the OLLI sites may too.
- When walking across a street to get to an OLLI site, use the crosswalk. Crosswalks are placed for maximum visibility for drivers and pedestrians. In bad weather visibility can be reduced.
- Be cautious, assume that all wet, dark areas on pavements are slippery and icy.
- Use extra care getting in and out of the car.
- Walk carefully in designated walkways. Shortcuts can be full of snow and ice resulting in dangerous conditions. Slow down to give yourself more reaction time.
- Look and listen carefully for traffic. Make eye contact with drivers in parking lots and on roadways. If you aren’t sure that they have seen you, stop and wait for them to pass safely.
- Wear a heavy, bulky coat that can help cushion you should you fall. Shoes or boots should provide traction on snow and ice.
- REMEMBER: the most valuable part of OLLI is our members. Don’t learn winter safety by accident.

Closing Policy

OLLI cancels classes and events (and the Tallwood office is closed) when county schools are closed due to inclement weather or area-wide emergencies. When schools announce a delayed opening, OLLI will generally open on time. OLLI follows the Fairfax County Public Schools for classes in Fairfax (Tallwood) and Reston. It follows the Loudoun County Public Schools for classes in Loudoun.

Exception: Because OLLI uses Mason facilities in Loudoun and Fairfax, it is required to abide by Mason decisions to delay or close. In rare instances when Mason announces a delayed opening, OLLI may need to cancel the first class of the day at the affected facility. In addition, poor road and parking lot conditions at OLLI sites may necessitate class or event cancelations.

To avoid any confusion, staff will send an email by 8:30 a.m. to all OLLI members notifying of any closings or delays. Staff will also post by 8:30 a.m. all closures or delays on the "What's New" page on the OLLI website (www.OLLI.gmu.edu) and on the Tallwood answering machine (703-503-3384).

Regardless of decisions regarding closings or delays, it is important for OLLI members to use personal judgment about the safety of travel to and from campus during inclement weather.

JOINING OR RENEWING ОLLL MEMBERSHIP

Welcome to OLLI, one of the best lifelong learning institutes in the United States! If you are a returning member, you already understand the great value of your membership at OLLI-Mason. Thanks for being a valued OLLI member!

Two OLLI Membership Types

1) Full membership. Register for unlimited courses and activities held at all OLLI locations for four terms (winter 2017, spring 2017, summer 2017, and fall 2017). You will be eligible for a Mason ID card to receive certain university privileges and discounts (outlined on p. ii). The cost for full membership is $425.

2) Introductory membership. Register for unlimited courses and activities at all three locations for just one term, winter 2017. An introductory membership is not available to former OLLI members; it is intended for new members who want to sample OLLI before committing to a full year. Introductory members are not eligible for a George Mason ID card and its privileges. The cost for introductory membership is $150.

If the renewal date on the catalog mailing label is 1/1/17 or earlier, it is time to renew. If the date is 2/28/17 or later, you are a current member and do not need to pay your dues now. Current members can visit their profile page in the Member Portal to see when their membership expires. Please note: you must complete your membership renewal before you can register or even view classes on the member portal.

Payment Options

1) Online. You may join or renew OLLI membership online at olli.gmu.edu. Click “Join OLLI/Sign In” or “Register/Member Portal” link under “Quick Links” on the right side of the home page. Credit card payment is required when joining/renewing online.

2) Hardcopy Registration Form. You may also register for classes via a registration form (found on p. 33-34) The form can be mailed or delivered in person to the OLLI main office at 4210 Roberts Road, Fairfax, VA 22032.

3) Installment. OLLI encourages members to pay in full at time of registration. However, for those unable to pay in full upon registering, OLLI offers a payment plan of 12 equal monthly installments by credit or debit card. Your application for the installment plan must be filled out completely, submitted to the main office, and approved each year before you can register for courses or activities. Applications are available on DocStore via the OLLI website olli.gmu.edu or by contacting the OLLI office at olli@gmu.edu.

4) Financial Assistance. OLLI offers financial assistance for members or potential members who find it a hardship to pay the full membership fee. Contact the registrar at ollireg@gmu.edu or visit Tallwood for an application. All inquiries are kept confidential.

Refunds

Members may obtain a full refund of their dues only by applying in writing to the executive director before the beginning of the third week of classes in the first term of the year of enrollment or re-enrollment.

Prospective Members

Not ready to commit? Prospective members may experience OLLI by visiting up to two class sessions or activities that are not oversubscribed. Check with the OLLI registrar about available seating.

REGISTRATION PROCESS

Important Registration Dates

Winter registration begins Friday, December 2 and ends on Friday, December 9 at noon.

How to Register

1) Online. You may register for OLLI classes online at olli.gmu.edu. Click on the “Register/Member Portal” link under “Quick Links” on the right side of the home page.

2) Hardcopy Registration Form. You may also register for classes via a registration form (found on p. 33-34) The form can be mailed or delivered in person to the OLLI main office at 4210 Roberts Road, Fairfax, VA 22032.

For a demonstration of the registration system click “new registration videos” under “quick links” on the right side of the OLLI home page: olli.gmu.edu
Membership and Registration, continued

When to Register

Priority Registration Period

- Members are encouraged to register for winter 2017 courses and events during the “priority” registration period, December 2 to December 9 at noon. Requesting classes during this period offers registrants the best chance to gain access to the most popular classes.
- When you register, you must click “request class” to add it to your selections.
- To complete your registration, you must list the courses and events you want in “priority order”—the order of their importance to you. To prioritize classes or to see what you have requested, click the “Prioritize/Finalize” option found on the left side toolbar of the member portal. Courses and events are prioritized separately.
- Members are placed in courses and events based on the priority number they assign to their requests.
- If class enrollment reaches capacity (a number limited by the instructor or room size), those who have designated that course as priority one will get in first, then the priority twos and so on.
- In addition, a random number is assigned by our registration system to each class request. At the point that all members of a priority group cannot be included in the course, those with the lower random numbers will be admitted into the course first. Therefore, requesting a class does not guarantee enrollment.

Space-Available Registration Period

- “Space available” registration begins after the “priority” period ends on December 9. You may still register for classes and special events anytime, but you will be placed into classes on a space-available basis after all registrants in the “priority” period have been assigned.

“Request Class” vs “Add to Cart”

- “Request Class” is the button you click when you are registering for a class or event during the “priority” window and before classes have been assigned. These require a priority assignment.
- “Add to Cart” is the button you click when you are registering for classes or events in which you are immediately enrolled or which are designated in the catalog as first-come, first-served. This includes all clubs and ongoing activities. Please remember to go to “View Cart” and “Check Out” to complete enrollment before logging off the member portal. These do not require a priority assignment.
- Class descriptions in the course catalog will make clear which classes or events are first-come, first-served, which means “Add to Cart.”

Making Changes to Your Registration

- You may add classes at any time either online or via an add/drop form (available in the Tallwood office and, during the term, at the Reston and Loudoun locations). You may drop courses ONLY by emailing ollireg@gmu.edu or by turning in an add/drop form to the front office.
- If you are unable to attend a course or event in which you are enrolled, please drop the course or event as soon as possible.
- A list of courses and events with open seats will be posted at all sites and on the OLLI website.

Confirmation and Class Payments

- The registration system will assign classes on or after January 3. You will receive a series of emails, thereafter, with your confirmed class enrollments, your waitlisted courses, and classes for which you are eligible, but need payment to finalize enrollment. If you do not have an email on file, the confirmations will be mailed to you.
- Read your confirmation emails and letters carefully. They will include any updates to classes, including changes in times or locations.
- If you are notified you are eligible for courses or events with a fee, you must pay by check or credit card at least one week before term begins to complete enrollment. If not, your seat will be offered to a member on the waiting list. If you will be out of town and unable to pay during that time, submit to the Tallwood office, beforehand, a separate check for each course or event with a fee, so we can process payment in your absence. Checks for courses or events for which you are waitlisted will be shredded.
- OLLI cannot guarantee a refund for courses or events once you have paid and are enrolled. Consider carefully before signing up for courses with fees.

Wait Lists

- OLLI does all it can to maximize enrollment into classes, including changing venues, and adjusting class capacities. If you do not make it into a class, you will be waitlisted based on the priority you assigned to the class.
Winter 2017 Schedule: January 17–February 13

OLLI on Facebook
Become Part of the Social Media Wave!

Would you like to interact with OLLI on Facebook? OLLI has two Facebook pages: 1) an organizational page where you can find news about the Institute and its programming; and 2) a group page where you can see and make postings about any type of event or news of interest to the OLLI community.

To access the organizational page, log into your Facebook account and search for the “Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at George Mason University.” Click “pages” then the OLLI swoosh icon to arrive at the OLLI organizational page. The page hosts the latest OLLI organizational pictures and news of interest to the public. This page serves as OLLI’s organizational platform for the general public on social media, just as the OLLI webpage serves as the organization’s public platform on the Internet. If you “like” the organizational page, you will receive periodic notifications of postings on your newsfeed in Facebook.

To access or join the OLLI Facebook group, log into your Facebook account and search “OLLI Mason.” Click into “OLLI Mason” to view OLLI’s Facebook group. OLLI members and staff use this page to post a wide range of events and news of interest to OLLI members. Send us a “join group” request and we’ll accept you into the group so you too can post items and be notified when others do the same.

OLLI Does Not Follow School Holiday Schedule

Although OLLI generally follows the county school closures for inclement weather (see p. 32 for details), OLLI does not follow the county school holiday schedule. Make sure to consult the OLLI calendars at the back of the catalog or the google calendar on the OLLI website for holiday closings.

Watch for New OLLI Classes Offered through Community Collaborations

OLLI programmers are busy developing and expanding relationships with community partners like the Reston Community Center and the Mason Center for Visual and Performing Arts to provide preferred offerings for OLLI members. Please keep an eye out for announcements of newly added classes/events via E-blasts and E-News.

Important Registration Information and Terminology Changes

We have changed the terminology for our registration window to better reflect the registration process at OLLI provided under the new member portal. What was previously referred to as our “Registration Window” is now called “Priority Registration,” as this is when you are able to request classes based on your priorities. Under the new member portal, registration never closes, so after “Priority Registration” we now have “Space-Available Registration.” You can request classes, but they will be assigned on a space-available basis.

“Priority Registration”-December 2–December 9 at noon

 Reminder **

Although we try our best not to relocate classes advertised in the catalog, locations may be changed due to enrollment levels and unforeseen circumstances.

Please look carefully at your registration confirmation emails/letters and at email reminders about classes for location updates. Locations listed in the catalog are not final.

You may also contact the OLLI office for up-to-date location information.
From January through December of 2015, 281 Friends of OLLI contributed $39,816.29. Donations have allowed us to purchase video conferencing equipment which enables us to enjoy presentations and meetings simultaneously at multiple sites, to enhance experiences in all OLLI classrooms, and to provide scholarships for George Mason students in departments that have supported the OLLI program. Your financial support helps OLLI accomplish our recognized goals.

It is hoped that you will continue to make tax-deductible contributions to Friends of OLLI. Your consideration of this request is very much appreciated. We gratefully acknowledge the generosity of the donors noted below who have given to Friends of OLLI during 2015.
