Summer Literature Course (F403) Book Change and Film Addition

By Shannon Morrow, Program Associate

There are two changes to Ellen Moody’s summer course, F403, Post-Colonialism and the Novel; the changes are reflected in the course registration in the member portal. One change substitutes a book of short stories, Ruth Prawer Jhabvala’s East into Upper East, for her older novel, A Backward Glance. The second change is the addition of a second film that the class will view: Mira Nair’s 1993 The Namesake. Everything else stays the same:

F403 Post-Colonialism and the Novel
Wednesdays, 9:40–11:05, June 23–July 28
Instructor: Ellen Moody
Class limit: 40

In this course we will explore identity and gender politics, colonialism, emigration, and slavery in three books: Ruth Prawer Jhabvala’s East into Upper East, Caryl Philips’s Crossing the River, and...
Jane Mander's The Story of a New Zealand River. We will look at how people are affected by history, law and custom, violence, cultures, economic and geographical circumstances, as well as the sheer need for survival. The class will see/discuss Mira Nair’s 1993 film The Namesake & Jane Campion’s 1993 film, The Piano.

Ellen Moody taught in senior colleges until 2012 and for eight years at two OLLIs. She is a published scholar, with specialties in the 18th through 20th centuries, with a special love of historical and political novels.

Reston Book Club

By Nancy Scheeler and Luci Martel, Reston Book Club Coordinators

The Reston Book Club will meet via Zoom on Thursday, May 20, at 4:00. The selection will be The Lying Life of Adults by Elena Ferrante.

The book is a coming-of-age story—one at which Ferrante is a master. The novel's main story tells of a teenage girl as she grapples with the discomfort of becoming a young woman and learning how to deal with adults and their myriad of “stories.” The book also focuses on the duality of Naples, its neighborhoods, and its residents. PLEASE NOTE THIS IS A DATE CHANGE.

Poet's Corner

The Big Payoff

My mom and her sisters did not watch
The Price is Right
They didn’t need to
They had their own pricing game called Shopping
The object – give grocers as little money as possible

Winnings included massive bragging rights
Relishing double coupons redeemed on sale items by crowing
They were practically giving it away!
was a guaranteed crowd pleaser Getting a cashier to void a wrongly keyed price deserved dramatic retellings

Strategies included poring over store circulars
and charting where to go

A & P meat
Waldbaums produce
Shop Rite paper products

Amateur mistakes
They never admitted
Not demanding rain checks
Not checking receipts
Not using coupons before expiration

For all its joys and diversions mom’s game was junior league compared to my Italian grandma’s Her Brooklyn neighborhood was full of mom-and-pop shops with six kids she mastered the art of Let’s Make a Deal.

The walk away
The hard bargain
The never back down
Being a pro, she didn’t brag
She didn’t need to
She has six eye-witnesses and me keeping her legend alive

Susan Rexroad

*The Big Payoff was a 1950’s game show where my parents were contestants. They won their honeymoon, a week at Mount Airy Lodge in the Poconos, and their bedroom set.

Also, the Center for the Arts has a website Mason Arts at Home, which has a calendar of online events and access to many past performances. Information can also be found at CFA ticket purchase page, Center for the Arts YouTube Channel, or the Hylton ticket purchase page.
