From the Desk of the Executive Director
Report from the 2022 OLLI National Convention

By Jennifer Disano, Executive Director

The 14th annual Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes National Conference was held April 25-27 at the OMNI Interlocken Hotel in Broomfield, Colorado. Board member Zachary Telch and I attended the event. The conference featured excellent speakers and great networking opportunities for the 125 OLLIs across the country to learn, share best practices, and collaborate. Over the three-day conference, we covered topics such as fundraising, effective marketing techniques, diversity, equity, inclusion, and collaborating with retirement communities.

Our benefactor, Bernard Osher, and Osher Foundation President Mary Bitterman provided words of encouragement. During the opening session a contest consisting of OLLI “Woo Hoos” was conducted to highlight OLLI events, ideas, and programs across the network. In the first round of winners, OLLI Mason gained recognition for its innovative “Caste,” an eight-week course coordinated by Terri Feidmayer and Gloria Loew of the Humanities and Social Sciences program planning group. It was the selected winner! The prize was an iPad, to be added to our technology inventory for use in our classrooms.

Fundraising expert Diane Lebson, co-founder of Evergreen Philanthropic Solutions and author of For a Good Cause, addressed the group. Ms. Lebson’s presentation “Raising money you need for the critical work you do,” spoke about donor engagement. Dr. Louise Aronson MD, MFA, Professor UCSF Division of Geriatrics and author of Redefining Aging, Transforming Medicine, Reimagining Life, spoke about ageism and the perceptions we have about words that define age.

9B1Z Notes from the Border (Zoom class)
Friday, May 13, 1:00–2:30,

This special presentation on the humanitarian crisis along the Polish-Ukrainian border, sparked by Russia’s invasion of Ukraine, will cover the instructor’s journey from Arlington, VA, to Lviv, Ukraine, and to Poland. The instructor will describe border activities during Europe’s largest humanitarian crisis since WWII, sharing anecdotes of how she and others helped those fleeing Ukraine—refugees who have been crossing the border seeking refuge and new beginnings. She will share two of the many videos recorded by her daughter while they were at the border.

Diaries in Exile
- Episode 1. First Day in Przemyśl
- Episode 9. Sveta. Day 17

Velida Kent, a Crimean Tatar American, received her MEd from George Mason University. She was born and grew up in Uzbekistan where her grandparents/parents were exiled from Crimea by Stalin in 1944. She and her family have lived in Poland, Thailand, and Ukraine. She and her husband, a Foreign Service officer, live in Arlington.

OLLI Photo Club Community Outreach – Rebuilding Together
By Dan Feighery, Photography Club Founding Member

Over the past several years, members of the OLLI Photography Club have supported various community activities. One effort, with an organization called Rebuilding Together, helps repair and upgrade homes for health, safety, and accessibility issues at no charge to the homeowner. A bonus for photographers is a chance to practice or learn new techniques in tight spaces or strong sunlight.

For complex projects, a yard may turn into a workshop, or perhaps become the best place to install a metal wheelchair ramp for a homeowner with mobility limitations. The Rebuilding Together group prioritizes aid to seniors, people living with disabilities, families with children, and veterans. More specifics can be found through a quick Internet search (e.g., Rebuilding Together).

Notes from the Stratford Hall Field Trip
By Carolyn Kramer, OLLI Member

On April 1, 26 OLLI members boarded an early-morning bus to Stratford Hall Mansion in Stratford, VA. Our day was amazing! At the visitor center, we saw a high-quality exhibit of artifacts, and each of us received a full-color guidebook of photos and details about each displayed item. Since ours was a
V.I.P. tour, the docents brought out two items rarely shared with visitors, one being a hat worn by Robert E. Lee during the Civil War.

We spent some time at the carriage house viewing the carriage collection, then went to the “Great House” of Stratford Hall, birthplace of Robert E. Lee. After examining the exterior brickwork (which in itself was fascinating!), we toured rooms of the house and learned some interesting history.

Dr. Kelley Deetz and the other docents conveyed their enthusiasm for their jobs and their passion for the history of the place. We visited the gift shop, then had lunch before departing. All in all, it was a fine trip, with many positive comments from OLLI members. Dr. Deetz thoroughly enjoyed our group, particularly our unwavering attention span and level of engagement.

Works of two OLLI Photography Club members have been selected for the 12th Annual Joseph Miller Abstract Photography exhibition. This year’s exhibit is open from May 1-31; it is virtual and can be viewed by clicking here.

Candidate images must start out as photographs from a camera and can then be artistically manipulated if desired. Over the last eleven years this exhibit has attracted entries from international and American photographic artists. Images accepted from OLLI members this year (shown below) are “Exponential” and “Seeking” by Dan Feighery, as well as “Teapot Spiral” and “American Proud” by Ed Marion. Dan’s approach is to find something looking through the lens for a more simplified image, whereas Ed’s approach is to amplify the inherent feeling of an image with more artistic adjustments.

According to Dictionary.com: "The word philharmonic literally means 'music loving.' The English word is modeled on French or Italian forms ultimately based on the Greek root πιθος (loving, dear) and harmonia ('music, agreement, joint'). Philharmonic is found in English by the 1740s, used of largely organizations dedicated to their love of music, e.g., philharmonic society."

According to Wikipedia; "A revival is a restaging of a stage production after its original run has closed. New material may be added."

According to Dictionary.com: "A revival is an evangelistic service or series of services for the purposes of effecting a religious awakening...."
